

My personal telephone has become a painfully vulnerable and unblockable open-window to telemarketers - at my great frustration. They are robbing me as surely as any other type of housebreaker, of some of my most basic of rights, especially my tranquility. This, with the same apparent intent as a common burglar. It has become a cruel assault.

UNSOLICITED SALES-PITCHES to private phones are equivalent to HOME INVASION, and, in my view, UNCONSTITUTIONAL. This practice should be immediately abolished. It corrodes the peace, and the quality of "safe harbor" I cherish above all else in my own home. Commercial ads on TV, radio, billboards, even in my private, personal mail, blaring and offensive to my senses, are pollutant enough in the public domain. I think tolerance limits have been breached egregiously, and a new definition of privacy should, and must, be VIGOROUSLY ENFORCED. Please restore the serenity of silence and peace that I, as a PRIVATE TAX-PAYER, VOTER and CITIZEN WITH FULL CIVIL RIGHTS, should expect. HELP me to restore some dignity, and comfort by ending this offensive and seemingly relentless intrusion and ABUSE of my personal space.

Please revoke telemarketers' rights to vandalize my home in this manner.
